HOLY WEEK.

The church ceremonies of Holy Week this year were of the customary solemnity, but the attendance at the churches was far behind that of former years; and whether we are to attribute this to irreligion or other cause, certainly there was a great falling off in the pilgrimage of the faithful to the seven churches. The ancient ceremony of the President with his Ministers and officers, making a tour of the city churches, has been abandoned. Not so, however, that of the troops, who in squads marched from church to church, kneeling unarmed before the altars in a few moments of military adoration. The altars of the various churches were beautifully decorated and illumined, and in the streets there were some few altars, but there were no soldiers on guard as in former years; the policemen were at the altar steps, and everything passed off most orderly. The Cathedral and the Salvador and Monserrat churches were the most crowded; and we regret to say that at the Cathedral there was an unbecoming row between four young men, which had its proper finale in the Policia. The sermons each night in the different churches were largely attended, chiefly by women. However, on Saturday the attendance at the Cathedral was unusually grand, and the strings of private carriages spoke the prosperity of the city families. We remember a few years ago how half the ladies in town stood at the side walk of the Plaza, dressed out in full Porteña magnificence, the ladies captivating in their mantillas and sparkling with diamonds, all witnessing the burning of Judas, in the vicinity of the statue of Liberty, but, much of that early magnificence is gone, and the High Life ladies of to-day all drive in splendid carriages and leave the side walks to the humbler classes. Mr. Christophersen gave a fish breakfast on Good Friday morning on board of the Apolo, and at nearly all the Catholic and Ehiscopalian families in town, Good Friday fast was strictly observed. Much commotion was caused in the Santo Domingo church by a young lady fainting due to excessive stays lacing, but if we except this accident and the Cathedral affair, everything during those solemn church days passed off quietly orderly and becoming a most strictly Christian Catholic people. We believe there is after all less vice and more religion amongst the masses in this than in most European cities.

GREAT BATTLE.

HEAVY BRITISH LOSSES.

TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER OF THE ENEMY.

OFFICIAL DESPATCHES.

The following telegram has been received from Sir G. Graham, by the Secretary of State for War, dated Osman Digna's Camp, 13th March, 11.40 a.m.:—

"Camp taken, after hard fighting since eight o'clock. Killed, over 70; among whom Montressor, Almack, H. Stewart, Naval Brigade; Aitken, Royal Highlanders; Ford, York and Lancaster. About 100 wounded."

The Press Association has been favoured by the Standard with a copy of the following telegram from its special correspondent with General Graham's force (via Suakim):—

Thursday, Midday.

For some hours after our arrival on the camping ground yesterday evening all went quietly. Fires lighted, and the men ate their dinners. Just before the sun set some parties of the enemy were seen at a distance of about 800 yards, and four rounds of shell were fired at them. The aim was excellent, and the natives dispersed at once. One man, more plucky than his fellows, crept forward to within 500 yards and fired twice at us. The bullets passed closely overhead. As darkness came on the fires at the enemy's camp, a mile and a half away, were plainly visible from our position.

At eight o'clock the bugle sounded, and an allowance of grog was served out to the soldiers. Shortly afterwards Commander Rolfe, R.N., went out by himself to reconnoitre. It was a most daring action, as no one could say where the enemy might be lurking among the bushes. He first made his way to the spot where our shell had burst, and found three natives lying dead—proof of the accuracy of our gunners' aim. He then went on until close to the enemy's watch-fires and found the Arab pickets asleep around them. He returned at nine o'clock to camp, and as it was evident from his report that the enemy were not meditating an attack, the men were ordered to lie down and get what sleep they could.

At one o'clock a sudden fire opened upon us from a short distance. The troops at once stood to arms and prepared to repel an attack. The fire continued, but the aim was very bad, the bullets all going overhead. The men, behind the slight brushwood fence they had on their arrival thrown up, were perfectly steady, and not a single shot was fired in return. All night long the enemy kept up their fire. It was a most unpleasant time, for the bullets swept overhead thickly, and there was nothing to do save to bear it quietly. In the centre of the square were huddled together camels, horses and mules, and several of these were hit by the bullets. As the men were lying down the number of casualties was light, being only one man killed and an officer and two men wounded. There was a general feeling of relief when day began to dawn, and the long, anxious hours of watching and expectation came to an end. Sunrise, however, brought no relief from the enemy's fire, which was kept up with increasing strength, the immunity from any return so adding to the boldness of the enemy that parties of them advanced to within three or four hundred yards of us. This was more than we could quietly endure, and a nine-pounder and a Gatling were brought into play, and after a few rounds the enemy retired. The men then took breakfast, and while so engaged the cavalry arrived from the Zareba, at which they had passed the night.

Orders were given for the advance to be made at eight o'clock, but before we started the cavalry were sent on ahead with strict injunctions to act as mounted infantry only, and on no account to allow themselves to be enticed into a charge. They searched the bushes in front of us thoroughly, but only small bodies of the enemy showed themselves, and the opinion that the tribesmen did not mean to fight after all, began to prevail.

At eight o'clock the infantry formed up outside the Zareba. General Davis's brigade was in front. It consisted of the Black Watch, who formed the half of the front and the left of the square; the 65th, who formed the other half of the front and the right side; and the marines, who were on the rear face. The Naval Brigade were in the centre of the square; General Graham took up his position in the centre of the leading square, and here I also posted myself. As we advanced we saw the cavalry falling back, and the enemy, evidently in great force, following them. The cavalry cleared off to our left, and we could now see crowds of the enemy over the bush in our front. We halted and formed square, and opened a heavy fire with the Gardner guns and rifles upon the advancing mass of the enemy. This checked them for a short time, but, encouraged by their wild sheikhs, the Arabs steadied themselves, and again came rapidly on. They heralded their advance with a musketry fire, and the bullets pattered thickly on the sand in the middle of our square. We on our part also advanced to meet the enemy, and now the weak points of the square formation at once became visible. The companies of the 65th and Black Watch in the front swept forward against the foe, but the remaining companies of those regiments which formed the sides of the square, and which were also expecting attack, did not keep up with the rapid forward movement front face, and the consequence was that many gaps appeared in what should have been a solid wall of men. As the front line approached the foe the men began to cheer, and with fixed bayonets advanced at the double, thereby still further increasing the gap between them and their companions forming the sides, and at this moment immense hordes of Arabs were seen charging down on the right face of the square. The front line was halted, and the officers of the companies of the 65th which fronted the fresh foe now pouring down, made every effort to close up the gaps and steady the men to receive the charge. The time, however, was too short to accomplish this, and the rolling fire which was opened upon the enemy both in front and flank drowned the voices of the officers. With a fierce rush the Arabs burst down on our right face. The 65th wavered, and began to fall back on the marines and 42nd, opening great gaps in the square. Through the smoke the dark figures could be seen rushing in unchecked even for an instant by the hail of bullets, and in another minute they were upon us, and the fight became hand-to-hand. The breaking up of the square by the recoil of the 65th threw the Marines and the Black Watch also into confusion, and the square no longer existed. The enemy pressed upon the front as well as on the right flank, dashing in upon what was now a confused mass of troops, spearing many, and dying themselves on our bayonets or by our bullets. In spite of the efforts of the officers, the whole body now began to retreat. The Naval Brigade, surrounded by our own men, had no time to use their guns, and, as the mass fell back, had to leave those behind them.

All this time, Buller's brigade, 500 yards on our right rear, were moving forward in perfect order, and advancing to our assistance with the steadiness of troops on a parade ground. In front of them were the guns of the marine artillery, and these opened fire upon the enemy, but without checking them. Upon getting back in line with Buller's steady brigade, and covered by their fire, Davis's brigade rallied at once, and the men very speedily resumed their formation, and, as if determined to retrieve the disorder into which they had been thrown, now advanced manfully side by side with Buller's square. So terrible was the fire which the united brigades poured into the enemy that their advance was at length checked, but there was no retreat, for a few of the impetuous Arabs who had surged down upon us turned face to the rear, nearly the whole being swept away by our fire.

On reaching the point where the Arabs had charged down upon the leading brigade, the guns which had been abandoned when Davis's squad was broken were recovered. Almost at the same moment a fresh body of the enemy were sent issuing from a broad, deep, rocky ravine in which they had been lying concealed, this time in even denser numbers than before. Our troops met the onslaught with the utmost steadiness. It was a repetition of the battle of El Teb, but the charges were sustained, were made by larger bodies of men, and were even fiercer and more determined than upon that occasion. Of the brave natives who swarmed down upon us, none went back. It was indeed death or victory with them. It was pitiful to see how the masses melted away under our fire, leaving a trail of bodies behind them till the last survivors fell close to our ranks. At length the terrible fire of the breechloaders prevailed over valour as brilliant and heroic as was ever witnessed, and no fresh assailants appearing from the ravine, we marched forward to its edge. There were numbers still within it, now retreating rapidly, some up the opposite side, others along the bottom. A hot shell and rifle fire scattered them still further, but even now there was no sign of panic in the retreat of these gallant savages, for they halted and fired from time to time with perfect coolness.

The battle was now virtually over, but even when the fight had concluded it was dangerous to move about the battlefield, owing to the wounded natives lying thickly among the bushes. These positively refused to accept quarter, and those who were able continued loading and firing at any who came near them, or thrust with their spears at those who passed by. In the bush, too, were many unwounded men, who, when they saw an opportunity, leapt to their feet and attacked any soldier or soldiers who came near. I saw one man charge six Hussars and fight so desperately that he was not despatched without great difficulty. The infantry halted after the ravine was cleared, and the cavalry were ordered to clear the bushes. During the fight they had been echelloned on the left flank, and were about to charge upon the enemy, who were assaulting Davis's retreating brigade, when the rally of the latter on reaching Buller's square rendered cavalry action unnecessary. The naval guns were retaken within a quarter of an hour from the time they were lost. At half-past ten, General Graham re-formed his troops preparatory to advancing on the wells, which are about three miles distant from the battlefield. Parties of the enemy were visible on all points of the horizon, both as at El Teb, to depart from the spot where they had maintained such a gallant struggle.

Two p.m.

After a short rest the advance was resumed. The enemy gathered again, and it seemed as if they intended to renew the battle. The troops were halted, and the guns opened upon the distant foe. These attempted to reply with a musketry fire, but the distance was too great. Our gunners made good practice, and we soon had the satisfaction of seeing the hostile groups break up and disperse over the country, the greater part taking to the hills, and ere long a few scattered bodies of men in rapid retreat were the sole remains of the army with which Osman Digna so confidently awaited our attack.

The force moved forward to Osman's camp. It was found to be entirely deserted, and Davis's brigade was marched back to the Zareba, at which I am now writing, while Buller's brigade remained to set fire to the camp, and then followed Davis. Scattered groups of the enemy again made their appearance, and fired at long distances at our column, but they carefully abstained from any nearer approach.

Our loss in the battle is now ascertained to have been about 70 killed and 100 wounded. By far the greater part of these casualties occurred in Davis's brigade. The sailors, who stuck to their guns to the last, and tried to drag them off, suffered exceptionally three of their officers—Montressor, Almack, and Houtson-Stewart—being among the killed.

I can form no estimate of the losses of the enemy. The ground was thickly strewn with their dead as the united brigade advanced, and I should say that it must have been considerably larger than it was at El Teb. The Arabs have proved themselves to be as formidable adversaries as any irregular troops in the world. Their tactics are good. They prepare the way for their charge with a heavy musketry fire in their advance. They take advantage of every bush and cover, and they charge with a reckless valour which may well shake the steadiness of the best troops in the world. The breaking up of Davis's brigade was partly the result of the advance being made too rapidly, and to a momentary forgetfulness of the really dangerous nature of the Arab onslaught. Had the square halted or moved forward with the perfect steadiness and regularity which characterised General Buller's brigade, the issue would not have been in doubt even for a second. It is due to the troops to say that they recovered very rapidly from their confusion, and that they afterwards fought with the greatest coolness and courage. The battle certainly showed that even the most perfectly armed troops, when engaged with savages animated alike by native courage and religious fanaticism, must act with the greatest prudence and caution, and that unskilfulness in handling and unsteadiness in movement may possibly bring disaster on troops who at the critical moment failed to prove themselves equal to the occasion. The long sleepless night passed under a heavy fire was extremely trying to the nerves, and would certainly detract seriously from their fighting powers.

There is very little difference of opinion as to the fact that it would have been far better had we advanced to the fight from the first Zareba. The seven-mile march in the early morning would not have been excessive; the men would have been spared the sleepless night, and the great undeniable risk which we ran from camping so close to the enemy would have been avoided.

VERY LATEST.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Souakim, March 14, 1.15 p.m.

The British loss in yesterday morning's battle has been ascertained up to the present to be 100 killed and 150 wounded. 4,300 of the enemy were killed, and several thousands wounded. The villages of Hanoi, Tarnay, and Tamanib have been destroyed by fire.

All the regiments are now rapidly returning to Souakim.

Osman Digna has fled to the hills.

Souakim, March, 7.45, p.m.

Generals Graham and Stewart, with their staffs, have returned here. All the wounded will be brought in to-morrow. They are doing well.

To-day, while the troops were destroying the enemy's ammunition at Tamanib, they discovered 2,000 Remington rifles buried, which they destroyed, and also the letter sent by Admiral Hewett to Osman Digna. To-day certain wounded rebels have been brought in who state that Osman Digna's nephew and many chiefs were killed in yesterday's battle. They add that Digna himself was in Tamanib during the first part of the battle, but seeing that his forces were being speedily beaten, he retreated to the hills. Fifteen hundred rebels were found dead in one pit.

The Maskelyne's Mails.

London, March 15th.

In the House of Lords yesterday Earl Cowper called attention to the office of public executioner, with especial reference to the way in which Bartholomew Binns performed his duties.

The Earl of Dalhousie, in reply, said the matter was engaging the serious consideration of the Home Secretary.

Our Special Correspondent at Souakim, telegraphing yesterday, says that an officer who had come in from the front stated that three wounded Arabs came out of the bush on Thursday night and killed a marine. Gen. Stewart's aide-de-camp was giving some water to another wounded rebel when the man attempted to stab the General himself. Some bands of the enemy were prowling about the camp on Thursday night.

The British loss, it is stated, in Thursday morning's battle has been ascertained up to the present to be 100 killed and 150 wounded. The enemy are reported to have about 4,000 killed and several thousands wounded.

Our Cairo Correspondent telegraphs to us that Sobehr Pacha states that he is willing to succeed General Gordon in the Soudan. His ideas are that the country cannot be governed by arms, but by pacific means alone. He cannot express an opinion as to the Mahdi until he has communicated with him, but he doubts the Mahdi being considered a prophet in the Soudan.

Our Berlin Correspondent says that the news of the British victory is generally received there with satisfaction. The National Gazette, however, expresses apprehension that the British Commander may forget Blucher's maxim, that only a strenuous pursuit of a beaten enemy can secure the fruits of victory, and render further fighting necessary.

Our Special Correspondent at Haiphong, telegraphing yesterday, says that half of General Millot's brigade attacked and captured five forts and four villages on the main road to Bac-Ninh. The Chinese possessed splendid fortifications on the hills, but they offered no resistance.

From Vienna our correspondent telegraphs that the police have arrested at Pesth thirty-six Anarchists, among whom are the editors of two Socialist papers. Since the exceptional measures have been in force 700 persons have been expelled from the city.

We learn, by a telegram from our Rome Correspondent, that the death of Signor Sella took place yesterday morning at Biella, in Piedmont. The deceased statesman, who was three times Minister of Finance, by most unpopular but salutary fiscal measures, saved the State from bankruptcy, and after Sedan he forced on the Italian Government the occupation of Rome.

The first Drawing Room of the season was held yesterday at Buckingham Palace by the Princess of Wales on behalf of Her Majesty. The presentations were about one hundred and twenty in number.

Mr. Muudella, M.P., yesterday received a deputation from the Council of the Honourable Society of Cymmroderion, which impressed upon his attention the need for the immediate introduction of the long-promised measure relating to intermediate education in Wales and Monmouthshire. The right hon. gentleman replied that a measure on the subject was ready, and had been ready since the end of last session, but it would be a difficult and delicate task to carry it through the House of Commons. He would do everything he could to carry the measure this session, and he did not despair of success.

We have to announce the death of Sir R. Cavendish Spencer Clifford, Bart., Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, which took place yesterday, at his private residence. The deceased baronet's health has been so infirm that he has not been able to attend to his duties in the House of Lords since the beginning of the session. He was born in 1815, succeeded to the baronetcy in 1838, and married in 1859 Emmelina, only child of the late Mr. R. Attwell-Lowe, a judge in India. Sir R. Clifford was lately a Colonel in the Grenadier Guards.

The temperature in London was as high as 60 degrees yesterday, and there is at present no sign of any important change of weather.

Mr. E. Ratcliffe's Miss Price won the Hunters' Flat Selling Race at Worcester yesterday; and amongst the other results of the running were the following:—City Handicap Hurdle Race, Mr. Newburgh's Monk Lewis; West Midland Handicap steeplechase Plate, Mr. Jay's Oolak; Worcester Qualifying Hunters' Steeplechase Plate, Mr. J. Ingram's Tom King; Farmers and Tradesmens' Plate, Mr Shepherd's Albatrusse.

Yesterday, the further hearing of the action brought by Mrs. Weldon against Dr. Forbes Winslow was resumed before Baron Huddlestone and a special jury. At the conclusion of the plaintiff's statement, Doctor James Edmunds, a member of the Royal College of Surgeons, was called on her behalf. The examination of Dr. Winslow had not proceeded far when the Court adjourned.

£426,000 in gold, principally from the United States, went into the Bank of England yesterday. In the stock market the tendency of prices was dull. Home railway stock closed ¼ to ½ per cent. higher against Thursday, although below the best points touched. Egyptian Government securities and Suez Canal shares fell ¼ to ⅜, but South American stocks improved. American and Canadian railway stocks were reduced from ¼ to 2, on a reported lowering of freight rates. Consols, however, rose to 101⅞, 102 for money, and to 102, ½ for the account.

LATEST FROM BRAZIL.

Rio de Janeiro, April 1st.

The chief event of the past week was the completion, upon the 25th of March, the anniversary of Swearing to the Constitution, of the work of liberating the slaves of Ceará, which has thus achieved the honour of being the first free province of the Brazilian Empire. Both here and in Ceara the event was celebrated with great festivities, those of the abolition societies of Rio lasting from Sunday to Sunday.

On the 22nd of March the Ministry was again completed by the entry of Senator Felippe Franco de Sa, senator from Maranham, who assumed the vacant Ministry of War.

Promulgation was given on the 28th of March to the convention modifying §9 and §10 of the Extradition Treaty of November 25, 1878, between Brazil and Uruguay. In accordance with this modification extradition is to be conceded only on an authentic copy of an indictment or sentence, unless in urgent cases, such as fear of evasion, and then upon condition of presenting within 30 days the said documents, or the legal order for arrest, upon which the requisition was based.

On the 24th the launch of the wooden brigantine, Aprendiz Marinheiro, took place from the Ilha das Cobras, in presence of the Imperial Family. It is 27 metres long, 6.15 in beam, 2.95 in hold, and draft of 2.51 aft and 2.21 forward; dislocation 148 tons. After the launch H.M. the Emperor opened the Museo da Marinha in the arsenal, and set to work the machinery of the new naval shops.

In the first fifteen days of March the interments in Rio Janeiro numbered 481,143 less than in the same period of 1883. They included 81 from yellow fever, 18 from pernicious fever, 6 from typhoid fever, 8 from other fevers, 6 from small-pox, 111 from disease of the respiratory organs.

Since then the yellow fever deaths continue to average 5 per diem.

At Porto Alegre, on the 25th of March, a commercial meeting, attended by the President and the Provincial Deputies was held to treat of soliciting from the Imperial Government measures for putting down the extensive smuggling from Uruguay and Argentina, which is ruining the legitimate foreign trade of the province. It was decided on to send a commission of members of the exchanges of Porto Alegre, Rio Grande do Sul and Pelotas to ask for energetic action.

The inhabitants of the capital of Matto Grosso were considerably alarmed on the 1st of March by a raid of indians upon settlers within two kilometers of the city. Besides killing a woman and putting an arrow into a man's thigh, the Indians sacked twenty-four huts. Naturally, the Cuyabaenses are loudly calling upon the Government for protection against the daring savages, and so the best thing for the Minister of Justice to do will be to vindicate the utility of his National Guard, by calling out a thousand or so of the grand army of colonels and lieutenant-colonels he has been so industriously creating, and send them to subdue or exterminate the wild Indians of the interior.

The discord prevailing in the Assembly of the province of Santa Catharina culminated on the 22nd of March with the withdrawal of all the conservative members, protesting against the acts of the majority.

In the north-eastern provinces the seasonal rains, although long delayed have set in generally, and thus removed the fears of the great disasters which would have attended their failure. The south of Rio Grande do Sul, in common with part of Uruguay, is labouring under the effects of a long drought, accompanied, as usual, with the plague of locusts.

Engineer Alexander Haag has arrived in Rio from the Amazon, by way of the West Coast. Although unable to carry out his intentions to pass from the Beni, in Bolivia, to the Purus, he ascended tha navigable Madre de Dios tributary of the Beni to a point which he calculated to be only 35 or 40 miles from the Acuari or Acre, a navigable affluent of the Purus, and he believes that a railway over the intervening land would solve the problem of Bolivian communication with the Amazon more completely and easily than by the projected Madeira and Mamoré railway.

A Havas telegram received on the 23rd ult., just before the breaking of the West Coast cable, also isolated us telegraphically from Europe and the United States, reported that "Lord" Gladstone was resolved on soon retiring.

By the Brazilian submarine cable repaired on the 28th, news has come that General Graham's corps had returned to Suakim, after driving Osma's forces into the mountains, but that there was still no news of General Gordon.

A Paris telegram of the 29th gives the melancholy intelligence of the death of Prince Leopold, Duke of Albany, in consequence of a fall.

MURDER IN A CONVENT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Paris, Friday Night.

What has by this time probably proved a very tirrible double murder has just been prepetrated at the Convent of the Serviane, near Marseilles followed by the suicide of the murderer. The criminal was one of the gardeners of the establishment, named Chave, who had been dismissed about ten days ago on account of his laziness, and who seems to have had no other reason for the prepetration of the cowardly crime than that he deply resented having been sent away. The crime by which the Superior of the Convent, Madame Martine, lost her life, and sister Léonie de Sorval was so seriously wounded as not to be expected to recover, was committed under the following circumstances:—Last Wensday, after the mid-day meal, the Sisters left the Convent to walk in the grounds. The had reached a rather secluded spot when they were surprised by the sudden appearance before them of the dismissed gardener. They Superior, however, spoke kindly to him, and inquired whether he had found work. Chave did not even reply, but drawing a loaded revolver from his pocket, instantly discharged all the [illegible]rels at the Superior and Mdlle. Léonie de Sorval, who was walking beside her. The other sisters ran away in the greatest consternation, calling for healp, which, not being immediately at hand, gave the murderer time to approach his victims and to belabour them on the head with the butt end of his weapon. Madama Martine however, had already been killed by a bullet in the head and another in the chest. As for Sister Léonie de Sorval, she was bleeding profusely from two wounds, of which one in the chest is extremely serious. The peasants of the neighbourhood, having been attracted by the screms of the terrified Sisters now succeeded in surrounding the murderer as he was trying to make good his escape. Chave, who had reloaded his revolver, kept them, however, at a respectful distance till some gendarmes arrived. Two of them walked courageously to within about three yards of the spot where the assassin stood with his pistol levelled at their heads. They then told him to lower his weapon, but instead of doing so Chave fired two shots, but unfortunately missed his aim. Seeing the danger to which they were exposing their lives, one of the gendarmes drew his pistol, and without giving the murderer time to take fresh aim shot him through the chest. Another bullet, which wounded Chave behind the ear, caused him to fall heavily to the ground. He did not, however, relinquish the hold of his pistol, with which, by a convulsive movement, he inflicted on himself a third mortal wound.

EDITOR'S TABLE

The Clerk of the Weather was in a pious mood during the holidays and favoured the attendance at the churches, which was unusually small except at the Jesuits' Church, San Salvador, where the sacred music was of the first order. The masses of people in the streets behaved with more than usual decorum, and the police had an easy time of it.

The mails by the Magellan and Maskelyne were delivered on Thursday. The Battle of Tamineb fills the papers. It was a desperate fight, and, owing to the 65th getting out of hand for a few minutes, the fate of the day was for a moment doubtful. Our loss was greater than at first stated. One hundred and twenty officers and men were killed. The gallant "forty twa" —the Black Watch—was severely cut up, losing 65 men, including ten serjeants, so that it was almost denuded of non-commissioned officers. Four thousand of Digna's Arabs were killed and five thousand wounded. See another column for account of the battle.

With great pleasure we announce that our esteemed friend Dean Dillon is at last on a fair way of recovery, and we hope shortly to see him quite himself again. The great esteem in which the Dean is held by all is expressed in the widespread anxiety that exists about his long illnes.

We are also happy to say that Mr. John Hughes is much better, and we hope will soon be able to see his numerous friends who have been so anxious about his recovery.

The following is the latest Frosty Mutton news from London. Although on a cold subject, it is calculated to warm the hearts of River Plate sheep breeders:—It is expected that before long there will be received large and regular importations of frozen mutton from the River Plate. The managers of this new line of importation say that they can assure a good profit in selling the frozen sheep here at 5d. a lb. and that they can purchase in South America at 2d. a lb. If their anticipations are realised, they will render more difficult than ever the success of the importers from Australia and New Zealand, who it is said can never purchase more cheaply, while they have to provide the greater cost of freight incidental to a longer sea voyage.

Particulars of the robbery at the English Bank in Rosario have been received. The porter of the Bank has confessed everything. He stole the box full of "Melgarejos" to pay an old debt for lottery tickets. This is not the first time that he has stolen from the Bank. He first stole a thousand pats in silver, which all went in lottery tickets, then he took 800 pats which all went the same road to ruin; then 850 pats, and finally the "Melgarejos". He also admits that he once tried to open the Bank safe, but failed in the attempt. A nice kind of Bank porter was Mr Manuel Perez.

We fully endorse the following from our esteemed colleague the Southern Cross. Mr Casey has done more for the Argentine Turf than any dozen men connected with it, and he means to do more for it;— We congratulate our distinguished countryman, Mr. E. Casey, on his success at the races at Palermo on Sunday. "Dichosa," true to her name, boldly entered the list and carried off the prize, amidst the ringing cheers of the Hiberno-Porteños. She is of the Kemmis stock and is only two years and a half old. So that we prophesy for her a long series of similar victories. It is a common saying that in horse-racing all is luck. There never was a greater mistake. Horse-racing is as much a science as navigation or the perfection of the steam-engine. The good turfite, like the good cattle-breeder, must have skill and judgment to choose his stock; and he must afterwards adapt every available means to the end, which is to make the racer pass over the largest possible space of ground in the smallest possible time. It is not by accident, but by the exercise of the highest intelligence and skill that Mr. Casey has secured such a series of brilliant triumphs on the turf during the past year. Within the last six months he has secured the three principal prizes offered by the Jockey Club, two of which were the largest ever given in South America."

Messrs Galli and Co. are about to start a paper factory in Montevideo. Up to the present all attempts to make paper in these regions have ended in Gall and bitterness.

The Porvenir of Bahia Blanca publishes in chapters Mr Biggi's report on the Bay of Bahia Blanca, and also an interesting communication from Mr. Esteban Ricard on the works necessary to prevent a repetition of the recent inundations. Mr. Ricard considers that the railway embankment, instead of being an obstacle, will greatly facilitate the carrying out of the works he proposes. The loss in sheep by the recent floods is estimated by our Bahia Blanca colleague at from 100,000 to 200,000 head. The effect of the rain on the camps that were burned is reported as astounding. The whole country is now one sheet of vivid green. The hamlet of Cantagalo was swept away by the flood. Twelve corpses have been found in the Arroyo Mostazas; and 25,000 sheep were drowned in it.

Mr. Roth of San Nicolas, while in Rosario last week, discovered the remains of a gigantic animal in the barranca near the railway station. Some officers of the Italian gunboat Scylla, who assisted Mr. Roth in the excavation, took the bones on board for some museum in Italy.

There is something wrong in painter circles, at least in Rosario. The telegraph reports that on Good Friday a painter named Mazzini blew his brains out there, and another drowned himself in the river.

The Good Friday breakfast on board the Apolo, given by the popular agent, Mr. Christophersen, to Mr. Goyena, head official in the Capitania, was a most sumptuous affair. The 'menu' was strictly 'fast,' and mostly Chinese—caviare, thou, salmon, lobsters, etc., ect.; not the sign of a beefsteak or mutton chop. The wines were splendid, and the speeches proportionately eloquent.

The bill of fare for the Plebs Banquet at La Plata to celebrate the removal of the Provincial Government to that delightful spot will be for 2,500 mouths and consist of "carne con cuero," sardines, apples and half a bottle of wine per head. While the "oi polloi" are getting outside this heterogeneous fare "al aire libre" in the Plaza, 400 of the elite will dine sumptuously in the railway station. What are the odds in favour of a jolly row, at one of or both the feeds?

The rocket and cracker firing in the streets yesterday morning was as bad as ever. Several people had narrow escapes of having an eye put out, and horses were frightened by the dozen. This silly custom ought to be put down, as unworthy of a civilized city, besides being a dangerous nuisance.

At the Café San Martin Calle Cangallo, better known as the Cafe of the 24 Billiards, Mr Teofilo Mas, the well known amateur billiard player, made on Friday evening a run of 149 cannons consecutively, a feat unrivalled in the billiard annals of this city, though not an uncommon one among the crack players in Paris.

Two performances, quite new, are given at the Politeama to-day, one at 2½ p.m. the other at 8½ p.m.

It is proposed to change the name of the Plaza Once de Setiembre to Plaza General Urquiza. It is six of one and half a dozen of the other.

The mail brings news of another decisive victory of the Electric Light over Gas. The Bank of England has adopted it. One hundred and fifty Swan Lamps have been put up in the Bank. The gas lights are left, for use if desired.

A grand banquet will be given in the National Theatre on Wednesday next to Mr Hector Quesada, on the occasion of his leaving for Mendoza. The invitations are issued by Juan N. Fernandez, Thomas Duggan, M. F. Marenco, M. Ugarte, J Martinez and other gentlemen.

Our distinguished friend Professor Pressinger, of the National College, has been named President of the English Literary Society. He is the right man in the right place, and the Society will probably come out strong this season in the conference line, under his able direction.

In our mortuary column will be found the melancholy record of Mr. Robert Frazer's death at Las Mostazas, near Bahia Blanca. His life was nobly sacrificed in an attempt to rescue a poor family floating on the flood to certain death. Mr. Frazer was a native of Dundee, Scotland, but has been a long time resident in the Plate, where he leaves many friends that will mourn whilst they admire his sad fate.

A morning colleague says that one of the first messages the Government will send to Congress this session will be one asking for the cash necessary to expropriate the Central Argentine Railway.

The Cordoba papers report several celestial phonomena up there; sudden changes from heat to hail, showers of mineral dust and the rest of it. The last 'tormento' came on so suddenly that it blew all the fashionables out of the Plaza; several ladies fainted, half-suffocated with the sudden clouds of dust; dandy hats were carried off to the sierras; toilettes were ruined, and there was a good deal of fun as well as fainting.

Our American Cousins have invented a new verb. A New York paper announces that—"Mme. Nilson will concertize in May and June with Theodore Thomas's orchestra."

A clergyman's daughter looking over the MSS. left by her father in his study, chanced upon the following sentence "I love to look upon a young man. There is a hidden potency concealed within his breast which charms and pains me." She sat down, and blushingly added: "Them's my sentiments exactly papa—all but the pains."

It has been discovered that one cause of the popularity of the telephone consists of the fact that by means of it a man can talk with a friend for five minutes without asking him to take a drink.

The National Government is about to order another steel cruiser to be built at Trieste, to cost about £200,000.

At an inquest on a man who had been drowned, the policeman giving his evidence was asked by the coroner if means had been taken to resuscitate the body:—"Oh! yes sir, we searched his pockets!"

"Will you take some nose-paint?" is the way they ask persons to drink in some parts of New Jersey.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract" and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.

After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Yours truly
W. R. GRANT.

ON 'CHANGE.

April 12th, 1884

Cedulas A	100¾
Cedulas E	89¼
Cedulas F	86½
National Bank Shares...	136
Nat. Bank Certificados..	50 o/o prem.

The Bolsa opened after the interruption of the holidays without any great speculation either way. Cedulas rule hard and upwards, owing to the rumour that a large amount goes to England by the Galicia; 110,000 were sold at 89¾; Series F buyers offering, but nothing done. National Bank Shares very quiet, but very sustained, 10 sold cash at 136. Certificados show most life, 50 sold at $45 per share, which is 50 o/o premium; these Certificates were bought for London account. Buyers of Italian Bank Shares are offering, but holders ask 60 o/o premium.

The Honbl. Edmund Monson, British Minister, has arrived back from the Negrete estancia and leaves with family to-night for Montevideo; he will take up his residence in Flores about May 1st.

The Mole was crowded with friends seeing passengers off for Montevideo. Mr. and Mrs. M. Forrester and Miss Meeks were accompanied to the stairs by a large number of friends. Mr. Forrester will be absent six months. Lord Dormer leaves for Paraguay on Wednesday, Lord Frederick Hamilton and Mr. Stafford, son of the Prime Minister of Australia, have left for Paraguay. President Roca is expected in town on Monday, and about a score of fashionable brokers amusing themselves up the rivers will return next week. They said on 'Change that Salvanagh after suffering great hardships on the Islands had returned to town a much wiser man. Captain Shand, estanciero, Entre Rios, leaves town to-day for his fine estancia Villaguay. All the city hotels are so monstrously crowded that it is to be hoped more of the estancieros will leave for their estancias in order to make room for strangers arriving by the steamers and forced to sleep on the tables in the dining rooms; such a number of strangers as at present in town we never before remember.

Cedulas—
For April 30th E 110,000 at $5¼
National Bank Shares—
For cash 10 at 136
For April 30th 600 at 137½-¾-¼-½
For May 31st 50 at 139
Sales, 660
National Bank Certificates, 30 o/o paid—
For cash 50 at $45

We hear on the best authority that the difficulty about the Judges and the new Capital La Plata will be arranged by the new Governor Dr. D'Amico, who will publish a decree establishing the Courts of the Province at least for the present in San José de Flores.

A private letter from London says that all River Plate men there subscribed freely for the Rosario and Campana Railway. Mr. Gallenga, the Times correspondent, who was out here some years ago, has taken such a fancy to the country that he put his name down for a good number of shares, but the subscription was so large that the subscribers only got a very small proportion. Our old friend Mr. H. N. Hart subscribed for 400 shares and only got 150, and everyone else in the same proportion.

Lord Dormer arrived down from Rosario this week and leaves immediately for Paraguay, a country that has charmed him greatly. He left his secretary up there, and on his return will make an excursion over that beautiful country. He says when coming down the heat at Corrientes was something frightful, but that on board the steamer it grew so cold that not a passenger went on deck; when landing at Rosario he was detained at the mole over an hour waiting for a cart for his luggage, and he caught a severe cold from which he is suffering now. He stops at the Hotel La Paix.

The New Zealand Merino rams of Mr. Barclay are now to be seen at Bullrichs. We advise estancieros to call and inspect them, they are certainly remarkably even and fine animals, and perhaps compare well with anything we have in the country. The breed of these rams has given magnificent result in New Zealand, and we see no reason why the breed should not do equally well here. Mr. Barclay considers that the New Zealand farmers have proved far more successful with their sheep than R. Plate farmers, and perhaps he is right.

A large crowd leaves to-night for Montevideo to catch the Pacific steamer Galicia for Europe. They said on 'Change this morning that the Bank is sending a large remittance of Cedulas by this steamer, but it seems more probable that the stock will be shipped in the Minho.

The steamer Pomona left Bahia Blanca on the 8th for Patagones; she ought to have arrived there ere this, but we suppose during the gale the bar of the Rio Negro was frightful. We have no news yet of the arrival of the Loire at Patagones.

Mr. Guimaraens, local Director of the Platino-Brasileiro Telegraph Co., took leave on 'Change; he goes to Europe in the Galicia on a three months' trip. We wish him a pleasant voyage.

There was very little business done in any description of stocks at afternours, Cedulas buyers at 89¾ and National Bank Shares sellers 137⅝. A sale of 500 shares at 137¾ was rumoured, but not confirmed. Certificados buyers 50 premium; we believe one lot of 663 sold at afternours.

The payments on 'Change were not to say heavy; the day was half a holiday, and the business of the week in produce and exchange small; the Banks opened at 12 o'clock.

Two square leagues of land in Venado Tuerto, adjoining the estancia of the Belgian Company, have been rented at the rate of 24,000 $% per league per annum; as the land is not fenced, the rent shows a great advance in the value of those camps. We hear also of one square league in Loreto, unfenced, rented for 15,000 $% per annum.

Exchange was passed to-day commercial bills at 47¼. The Provincial Bank, we believe, did not draw for the Galicia's mails.

Captain Hairby is expected on shore to-morrow.

The German steamer General Werder has entered with 1,400 tons of cargo.

Several French families, arrived by La France, have come out for the new colony at Curumalan; they leave to-morrow by train, strong vigorous healthy people. The La France made a capital run out in 21 days, of which only 18 days steaming.

The Lamport & Holt steamer Horrox sails to-morrow in ballast for Brazil.

Messrs. Schwartz Brothers & Co. have opened splendid central offices in Calle Cangallo No. 101, where engineers and railway men will find everything they need.

Complaint is made about the great delay in beginning the works of the Santa Fé and Colonial Railway and the concessionaires Messrs. Murrieta & Co. may not be aware that there are parties here waiting for the concession to lapse to start a company in this market for the making of the railway. We are not aware of the time allowed for the commencement of the works in the concession, but the delay is the subject of much comment in certain circles, and if opportunity is offered other parties will bid for the making of this most useful and most necessary railway.

Some large transactions in lands are again on the tapis at Mr. Rom's office, and in a short time we may be able to report a very important business.

Mr Jas. F. Ballesty of Rojas was welcomed on change to day. He reports camp and stock out there in the most splendid condition and great activity in sales of sheep and cattle. Some 2000 capones, the finest perhaps in this partido, were sold a short time ago at a reserved price; all estancieros out there are beginning to learn the true value of alfalfa, and in nearly every estancia plots of from 2 to 10 squares can be seen. On one estancia there are 20 fine ricks of hay, which for size and quality would beat any that the famed Co. Meath could produce.

Two more steamers being constructed for the River Plate, for the Mensagerias Maritimes line with Bordeaux; they are to be quite as fast as the Nord America and make the run home in 15 days.

A very complete and fine establishment ready for occupation in North Barracas is now on sale, see advertisement in another column.

Mr. Angel Sastre, during the absence of Dr. Pacheco fills the post of President National Bank.

Mr Ansaldi, who has just returned from the famous iron mines of Catamarca promises us a paper on the mines which will be of much interest.

The sale of 6,000 sheep in Tandil at $30 ⅌ is reported lambs free.

We deplore to record a sad accident that has occured on the Santiago del Estero line to Dr. Doering, Professor Cordova, Dr. Doering was riding on the cow-catchers before the engine and almost killed by the engine running on a mule on the track. This should be a warning to people travelling on the cow-catcher. We remember last year how an English lady with her two daughters rode on the cow-catcher of the Great Southern Railway.

Dr Plaza, Minister of Hacienda, is expected in Rosario to-night and in town on Monday.

On Tuesday the great Municipal fetes at La Plata take place, some 2,000 invitations have been issued, should it rain it is probable that the fete will be postponed as the mud out there in some parts is very profound.

We welcome back to the Plate our gallant friend Captain Fairfax who has such a wide circle of friends in the Plate. We all remember the Volaje and her hospitable, Commander; we hope Captain Fairfax will enjoy his trip to the Plate.

Advices from the North camps are very favorable, the pasturages are splendid and everything looks well. We hear that in Lincoln there is a party of New Zealanders inspecting the camps and much pleased with what they see but not at the prices asked for land up there.

Parties arrived from Bahia Blanca state that the new port has been completely under water, whilst the "puerto viejo" on the left bank of the Naposta grande remained dry. This is the spot where the Indian tolderias used to be and the land belongs now to a man called Pio Iturra. In buying land one should always prefer places where Indians tolderias have existed because the Indians knew their country better than we do.

We believe that this is the great secret of Mr. Casey's successful land speculations; the Curumalan Venado Tuerto and Loreto camps have been always inhabited by Indians and on all of them like in Pio Iturra's camp sweet water wells are to be found.

The ss Meath is now loading her mutton cargo at Campana. Owing to the great difficulty about lighters unloading the steamers, this steamer has been unable to get away as soon as expected.

Mr. George Moore, estanciero of Bahia Blanca, has arrived, and leaves to-night to catch the Galicia in Montevideo. He says that he suffered no loss in sheep or cattle in the Bajo Hondo, and the Sauce Grande is now declining. He was two days coming up in the diligence to La Gama. All along in the Naposta Valley there was a line of drowned sheep. Mr. Hutchinson has lost by the floods nearly all he had. The water came down the Valley like a wall and early in the morning as they were letting the sheep out. The water reached the town of Bahia Blanca about two o'clock in the afternoon and inundated half the town. He is a resident down there for the last fourteen years, and never before saw such a flood. About five days ago Bahia Blanca was invaded by a tremendous tide. Mr. Gardom's men were on tables all night, the loss of property caused by this extraordinary tide is immense; all the merchandize unloaded was damaged, poor Bahia Blanca has doubly suffered by the Naposta flood and the Bay tide, never before had they such floods and desolation down there. On the Sauce Grande the horses at the very "pal

EDITOR'S TABLE.

House rent in Montevideo is going up like a balloon', and is now even higher than here in Buenos Aires. The papers say that, since New Year's Day, many house-owners there have raised their rents over 50 per cent. The only consolation for the tenants is in remembering what the Bible says about a camel passing through the eye of a needle etc.

The Tigre packing Co. on Calypso Island are making great headway, and we were really surprised at seeing on Sunday last how much good work they have got through, considering the many difficulties they have had to contend with; only three months ago the trees were growing where the factory now stands, labour was scarcely to be obtained at any price, and the three partners put up the building almost unaided. These gentlemen are all English, most obliging, courteous and energetic. Mr. Montanaro, whom we had met in Buenos Aires already, did the honours of the establishment, introduced us to his two partners Messrs Watts and Hunter, and showed us the machinery. This year, as it has been little more than a trial, only 10 000 tins of peaches and apples have been preserved, but the partners propose working on a much large scale next season and will greatly enlarge their present premises. The peaches, we may add, are, to our taste, superior to most of those imported from the United States, and we confidently predict that when the factory and its productions become better known there will be a demand in excess of what they can supply. Mr Calzetta, their landlord, made us at home for two days, some of the pleasantest we have spent on the Lujan.

The Asuncion papers report a desperate fight at Villa Concepcion between a tiger and a boa-constrictor, the latter 50 feet long. Mr tiger had no chance from the beginning, and in ten minutes was in the huge reptile's stomach.

English Christian Names.—Somebody with plenty of time, and free access to the records of the Registrar-General's Office, has been writing a very amusing paper in the Cornhill about English Christian names. It is probable, from careful calculations, that two-thirds of all the children in England and Wales are called by one of the following twenty-five names—certain that in any 100,000 children they will occur in the following order:—

Order.	Names.	Numbers.
1	Mary	6819
2	William	6590
3	John	6230
4	Elizabeth	4617
5	Thomas	3876

We received the following note yesterday. It is of moment for sheep-farmers:—

"San Nicolas,
April, 9, 1884.

"Dear Standard,

"A disease called by the natives 'viruela' (or small-pox) has made its appearance amongst the lambs in flocks on the Pavon. Last year, in the district of Ramallo, there were very heavy losses from this same pest.

"The skin of the lambs gets covered with a thick crust, and very hard. We have tried several specifics, and we are now trying Glycerine as a remedy.

"Perhaps some of your subscribers would favour us with a remedy. I have looked through the 'Stock Book' but can find no mention of such a disease.

"Yours truly,
"Subscriber."

Dr. Plaza, Minister of Finance, found time for a look at the Custom House of Rosario while he was passing through that town last week. He found the furniture so very shabby-genteel that he mistook the office of one of the chiefs for the porter's lodge, H. E. gave orders for decent furniture for all the offices.

The Damas de Misericordia give a grand concert to-night in the Teatro Nacional. The programme includes several choice morceaux and promises a most enjoyable evening for lovers of good music.
